It's IT Project Proposal Time!

The Fall 2012 cycle for IT project requests is open through October 12th! If you haven't heard about the IT Project Prioritization process, you can find out more on the ITS website at http://www.humboldt.edu/its/po-prioritization [1].

Want to talk through your project idea before you commit to a proposal? Give us a call! We'd love a chance to ask you our favorite question: "What is the problem you're trying to solve?" and see what we can do to help you find a solution – we quite often find there's already a solution elsewhere on campus that can easily be adapted to solve your problem. We can also advise you how to present the idea for the best chance of success and guide you through completing the form.

If you don't already have a contact in the Project Office, please call us at x5080 or send an email to itspo@humboldt.edu [2] to start the ball rolling!

The Fall 2012 cycle for submitting proposals for IT-related projects is now open. Proposals are due by 5:00pm on Friday October 12, 2012. If you want to talk through your project idea or have questions about the process, call the IT Project Office at (707) 826 5080 or read on for more guidance [3].
