I'm using some rather specialized ap

Published on Information Technology Services - Humboldt State University

I'm using some rather specialized applications - will the Technology Help Desk be able to support these?

The Technology Help Desk can assist with issues concerning specialized applications if in-depth knowledge of those applications is not needed - for example, if the application is supposed to be web-enabled and is not connecting to the Internet over HSU networks. More specialized technical assistance is probably better handled by going directly to the application vendor's own support service.

Related Topics

Source URL: https://www.humboldt.edu/its/node/1268