BIOL 580 SPRING 2027

SCIENCE COMMUNICATION

In this hands-on course, students will learn to communicate their research and scientific ideas with peers and public audiences.

Course Highlights

- Intro to science communication
- Impact on society and policy
- Writing beyond "jargonese"
- Public speaking for peers and general audiences
- Techniques to deliver standout texts and presentations
- Build skills in storytelling
- Engaging with journalists

FORMAT

In person | MON, WED, FRI | 1:00 to 1:50 pm

PREREQUISITES

No formal prerequisites ✦ Graduate level course

Undergraduates may enroll only with instructor authorization

INSTRUCTOR

Dr. Pedro Peloso, Department of Biological Sciences | pedropeloso@humboldt.edu