

Connecting The World Through the Tallest Trees

Professional Summary

Through working at College Corps, I have designed and crafted interpretive programs and worked with people from all over the world to teach them about the redwoods!

Through this program, I have learned about creating memorable experiences for diverse audiences, which has led to visitors leaving the park feeling an inspiration to care for the natural world.

Next Steps

This Spring, I will graduate with a degree in Environmental Science Management with an emphasis in Interpretation and Environmental Education.

After graduation, I will be moving to Grants Pass to further pursue Environmental Education!

Day to Day

A day working at Redwood National Park looks like spending half the day in the visitor center, addressing each visitor's needs and wants for their time in the park.

The other half of the day is spent within the Redwoods, hiking and making sure visitors are having fun and being safe! Some days, this is teaching an interpretive program to people coming from all over the world!
